BANDITS ROB CHURCH MEMBERS OF $75,000

5 MEN ARMED WITH SHOTGUNS INVADE SYNAGOGUE

80 MEMBERS OF CHICAGO ROUMANIAN CHURCH ARE HELD UP

INCLUDED VICTOR PHILLIPS OF BUCHAREST, REPRESENTATIVE OF ROUMANIA

Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Five men, armed with shotguns and revolvers, invaded a meeting at the First Roumanian synagogue last night and robbed members of $75,000 in money and jewels.

Eighty members of the congregation, including Victor Phillips of Bucharest, representative of the Roumanian government, and the Roumanian consul, were made victims of the robbery.

Rings were stripped from the fingers of women. Wallets and tie pins were taken from the men. Each victim, after being searched, was ordered from a line along the wall and forced to lie down on the floor.

The synagogue was visited by Queen Marie of Roumania during her stay in Chicago. The meeting was called to hear Victor Phillips, representative of the Roumanian government, in connection with the tenth anniversary celebration of United States Roumania to be held in Bucharest on May 10. Leon Bonagard, Roumanian consul in Chicago, also was a victim of the robbers.

Phillips was in the midst of his address when the five robbers stepped to the outer door. Posing as worshippers they were admitted by Rabbi Bronstein who was overpowered and forced to march down the aisle ahead of the five men who had donned masks.

Phillips, standing by the throne erected for the visit of Queen Marie, paused in his address as the single file approached. The bandit leader shouted an oath, broke from rank, and commanded the congregation to line up against the wall. Three of his confederates covered the exits while the chief and another moved down the line of victims who faced the wall.

The chief and his aide worked deliberately but roughly. The search required nearly a half hour.

Included in the loot was a $4,000 diamond ring, a pair of diamond earrings valued at $2,200 and a diamond studded bracelet valued at $1,000.

Gathering the loot into one collection, the bandit leader then turned to address his victims.

"Don't move for twenty minutes," he shouted. "We will leave a guard. If you try to get away in less than twenty minutes you will be shot." He waved his shotgun at the members, turned and led his men outside.

Bolder members rushed to telephone but found all lines had been cut. Police were summoned from an outside telephone but found no trace of the robbers.

300 PEOPLE MISSING IN FIRE DESTROYING 3,000 CHINESE HUTS

Shanghai, April 9.—(UP)—Three hundred persons are missing in a fire which destroyed 3,000 huts at Pootung, according to reports reaching here today from Pootung.

Advices said the fire started during the night and that it was feared many of the missing could not have escaped death. The reports brought no word of the cause of the fire.

NORTHERN PACIFIC HAS PROSPEROUS YEAR

St. Paul, April 9.—(UP)—The Northern Pacific railway enjoyed one of the most prosperous years in 1928 that it has known in the last eleven years, it was revealed in a public report here today.

The net operating revenue for the year was more than $25,000,000, a gain of $5,697,908 over the year before, and the highest since 1917.

'POISON BOOZE' BILL OF NEW YORK A LAW

Albany, N. Y., April 9.—(UP)—Governor Roosevelt today signed the Cuvillier "poison booze" bill, which makes it a felony punishable by from two to five years imprisonment, to sell beverages containing wood alcohol.

House Increases State Gas Tax From 2 to 3 Cents

SWAPPED WIVES WITHOUT DIVORCE COURT ASSISTANCE

Lincoln, Neb., April 9.—(UP)—Swapping of wives without the formality of a divorce court, yesterday led to the arrest of two Bennet, Neb., men and the detaining of their wives.

The men, Otto E. Slade, 31, and Horace Reed, 29, admitted they had traded wives by mutual consent Sunday, March 31. Each family had two children who had made their homes first with one family, then the other.

"Strange goings on" at the two homes attracted neighbors' attentions to the "trade."

THINK REBELS TO STAGE FIGHT IN SONORA SOON

WILL STAKE REVOLUTIONARY DESTINIES ON THIS BATTLE

NEW FEDERAL FORCE MAKES CAPTURE OF JUAREZ ITS OBJECTIVE

By JACQUES D'ARMAND
Naco, Ariz., April 9.—A third assault on the federal stronghold at Naco, Sonora, the first objective in a new rebel offensive planned by General J. G. Escobar, revolutionary commander-in-chief, was believed in preparation today.

Departure of General Escobar with a 15-car troop train from Juarez to join the depleted forces of General Faustino Topete, who led two unsuccessful attacks on Naco Saturday, convinced observers that the rebels still hoped to capture Naco.

Troop movements behind the rebel front at Naco supported belief that a new offensive was in preparation. Several detachments of rebel cavalry and the troop train of General Topete were sighted at Oromina, six miles south of the border.

Americans arriving here today from Cananea brought unconfirmed reports that rebel forces planned to employ lethal gas in an attack. The arrivals said General Topete had obtained more than a score of drums of gas to be dropped from planes on the federal garrison. The reports, although wholly unconfirmed, caused considerable excitement.

There was little to indicate when the rebels expected to launch a new attack on Naco and on the basis of present inactivity the American border city resumed its normal life, abandoning restrictions imposed during the heavy fighting last Saturday.

El Paso, Texas, April 9.—A new Mexican federal force, organized at El Poverin, across the international line from Fort Hancock, Tex., was pushing toward Juarez today, with capture of that border point its ultimate objective, federal forces reported here. The new army, composed of about 300 men, planned first to take Guadalupe, 40 miles east of Juarez.

SIR ANTHONY BOWLBY, SURGEON TO KING, DIES

London, April 9.—(UP)—Sir Anthony Alfred Bowlby, 73, surgeon-in-ordinary to King George, died at his home here today from pneumonia. Sir Anthony was consulting surgeon in the British forces in France during the world war and was the physician who rendered first aid to King George when his horse threw him in 1915.

BELIEVE TRUNK CONTAINS JEWELRY WORTH $100,000

Miami, Fla., April 9.—(UP)—Customs officials searched today for the owner of a trunk seized last night on the Clyde liner Iroquois from Havana. Undeclared diamonds and platinum jewelry valued at $100,000 was found below a false bottom in the trunk.

Search of the trunk resulted from information given by Cuban government agents who believe the owner still in Havana. The smuggling attempt is thought the work of a lone operator unconnected with any international smuggling ring.

MAN WORTH OVER 100 MILLION TO GO TO PRISON

HARRY FORD SINCLAIR'S CONVICTION SUSTAINED BY THE SUPREME COURT

UPHOLDS DECISION ON SENATE CONTEMPT CONVICTION IN LOWER COURT

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 9.—A heavy-set man, said to be worth more than $100,000,000, will take up a summer residence in the big brick District of Columbia jail next month, under the supreme court's decision upholding the senate contempt conviction of Harry Ford Sinclair.

The mandate of the supreme court will be sent down in 25 days, under the court's rule—May 3. The Kansas multi-millionaire then will be called upon through his bondsman to surrender to serve three months and to pay a $500 fine, imposed two years ago by District Supreme Court Justice William Hitz.

The court's ruling, which upholds the only prison penalty imposed as a direct result of the famous Teapot investigation of 1923-24, was acclaimed by senators today as a justification of the senate's assumption of wide inquisitorial powers.

The senate in the oil investigation was acting for the people of the United States, and many questions bearing on the title to the naval oil reserves cannot be called private affairs, the court said.

TEXAS GUINAN IN FEDERAL COURT

New York, April 9.—(UP)—Texas Guinan, famous Broadway night club hostess, appeared in federal court today prepared to go on trial on the federal government's charge of conducting a public nuisance.

Although ten others were arrested with her in the Salon Royale by Mabel Walker Willebrandt's raiders last June, Tex is to have the jury all to herself. The ten others entered pleas of guilty today to the accompaniment of a disdainful sniff from Tex.

"I feel sorry for the poor Greeks," she said. "They don't know what guilty means."

COL. LINDBERGH TO ATTEND FUNERAL OF AMBASSADOR

Mexico City, April 9.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh left by airplane for the United States today to honor the memory of the man who guided him when he flew to Paris from New York.

After a week's visit to his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow, Lindbergh left Valbuena field at 12:20 p. m. today and was expected to fly to New York to join in the reception of the body of Myron T. Herrick when it arrives next Friday from Paris. Later, Lindbergh probably will go to Cleveland for the funeral services there.

ANOTHER ROYAL ROMANCE RUMORED

Stockholm, April 9.—(UP)—Another royal romance in Scandinavia was widely rumored today, involving Prince Frederick of Denmark and Princess Ingrid of Sweden.

Princess Ingrid is a daughter of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden and a cousin of Princess Martha, who married Crown Prince Olaf of Norway last month.

Frederick is 30 years old and Princess Ingrid 19. She was a member of her cousin's wedding party at Oslo.

KING BORIS VISITS PRESIDENT HINDENBURG

Berlin, April 9.—(UP)—King Boris of Bulgaria called on President Paul von Hindenburg today.

Plans Return to U. S.

Arrangements have been made according to reports for Miss Anne Morrow, fiancée of Colonel Lindbergh, to return to the United States either by train or plane. No explanation of the trip has been made or was it known whether Miss Morrow would fly back with Lindbergh.

REVISE LAW TO AID UNIVERSITY REGENT

GEMMELL TO BE PERMITTED TO RIDE WITHOUT CHARGE ON THE M. & I.

St. Paul, April 9.—(UP)—The Minnesota senate today passed without opposition a bill which would permit members of the board of regents who have served five years in the employ of a railroad to accept passes on that railroad.

The bill which was introduced by Senator Chris Rosenmeier, Little Falls, and others, was designed to remedy a condition they declared was unreasonable.

W. H. Gemmell, Brainerd, newly elected member of the board, who is president of the Minnesota & International Railway, would be permitted under the Rosenmeier bill to ride without charge on that road.

Found Fliers in Australian Wilds

Captain Kingsford-Smith, left, and Charles Ulm, right, heroes of the spectacular flight of the Southern Cross from the United States to Australia, were lost in the wildest section of Australia when their plane in which they were attempting a series of flights to London was forced down. They were reported found today.

NO DETAILS OF EXACT LOCATION OF PLANE GIVEN

LAST WORDS ON RADIO MARCH 31 WERE "WE ARE LANDING IN ROTTEN COUNTRY"

COUNTRY OVER WHICH THEY FLEW WAS A WILD JUNGLE DISTRICT

Sydney, N. S. W., April 10 (Wednesday)—(UP)—The monoplane Southern Cross, missing since March 31, has been found near Drysdale, according to reports reaching here today.

Other than that the fliers, including Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and Charles P. T. Ulm, who flew the Southern Cross from San Francisco to Australia, were safe, no details of the location of the lost plane were received.

The Southern Cross with its crew of four started Saturday, March 30, from Sydney, N. S. W., to Wyndham, as the first stage of a flight to London.

Intermittent radio reports from Capt. Ulm during the earlier stage of the flight ended dramatically the next afternoon with the message that for ten hours the Southern Cross had been cruising about in a tropical fog and rainstorm and that its fuel was exhausted.

"We are landing in a rotten country," were the last words from Ulm's radio.

An almost hopeless search began. The fliers had been unable to give more than a guess as to their probable location. The country over which they were believed to be was a wild jungle penetrable only by the native black bushmen of western Australia. Drysdale Mission station, 200 miles in the interior of this jungle country, was the objective for the far-flung search.

REP. MICHAELSON TO BE TRIED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Key West, Fla., April 9.—(UP)—Congressman M. A. Michaelson of Chicago, charged with violation of the national prohibition law, will be tried on two counts during the May term of federal court, it was learned today.

In the first count of his indictment, he is charged with unlawfully importing into the United States from Cuba 12 quart bottles and one keg of intoxicating liquors. On the second, he is alleged to have transported the liquor from Key West to Jacksonville, Fla., illegally.

Papers in the case arrived from Jacksonville, where the trunk opening episode took place, last night.

YOUNG HEFLIN MAKES WHOOPEE ON BROADWAY

New York, April 9.—(UP)—Thomas Hefflin, Jr., advocate of states' rights in the matter of prohibition, nursed a black eye today—the price he paid for a flaming piece of research work on the workings of the Volstead law he conducted along Broadway last night.

Young Hefflin, son of the dry senator from Alabama, ended his tour of the "whoopie" belt last night at the West 30th street police station. Yesterday he arrived on the liner Ancon from Panama, announcing that the six bottles of Scotch with which he started out had proved insufficient but that he had met many generous and kind-hearted persons aboard ship.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY PUTS ITS SHOULDER TO THE WHEEL

IN HOUSE WILL AID REPUBLICANS FOR LAWS HELPFUL TO PEOPLE

THERE WILL BE CRITICISM AT TIMES, SAYS THE LEADER

Washington, April 9.—(UP)—The democratic party in the house "will put its shoulder to the wheel" and work with the republican majority for all legislation helpful to the American people, Rep. John N. Garner, new minority leader, said today.

"There will be criticism from time to time, of course, but it will be constructive instead of obstructive," Garner told the United Press. "We are solidly behind the administration's program as long as it is the best for the people of the country."

Garner, who is also ranking member of the ways and means committee, which is drafting a new tariff act, said there would be little opposition to the bill if it followed a readjustment as recommended by Pres. Hoover.

Garner said the present tariff act is wholly inadequate and discriminates against agriculture. He predicted the new law would be drafted to aid the farmer.

DEMAND NORWAY PROBE SELLING OF STEAMER JUAN

Oslo, April 9.—(UP)—The Norwegian press and public have joined in a demand that the government "proceed energetically" after carefully investigating the selling of the steamer Juan by a United States coast guard cutter in Chesapeake Bay, near Baltimore.

Indignation has been expressed freely since the incident occurred.

The government is awaiting the report of the Baltimore consul and announced it would take no action until the report was received.

FRANCE RATIFIES KELLOGG ANTI- WAR PACT TODAY

Paris, April 9.—(UP)—French ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty was sealed and signed today by President Gaston Doumergue and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand.

A diplomatic courier will start for Washington tonight with the document, which he will deliver to Paul Claudel, French ambassador at Washington. Claudel will transmit it to the state department.

HEAVY SNOWSTORM GRIPS MOUNTAIN AREA IN WEST

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 9.—(UP)—A heavy snowstorm gripped the inter-mountain area today, suspending automobile and street car traffic and hampering air mail pilots. An average of 4.2 inches of snow fell over Utah and the weather bureau predicted the storm would continue through the day.

LONG, HEATED DEBATE PRECEDES VOTE MONDAY

MEASURE FOR REDUCING MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSE FEES KILLED

VOTE ON GAS TAX 104 TO 18, ON LICENSE FEES 86 TO 31

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, April 9.—After long and heated debate the Minnesota house of representatives late Monday approved an increase in the state gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents and then virtually killed the measure for reducing motor vehicle license fees.

The vote on the gas tax increase was 104 to 18 and on the motion for indefinite postponement of the license fee reduction bill, 86 to 31.

When arguments began on the gasoline tax bill there was considerable sentiment for an increase from 2 to 4 cents, the figure set in the original bill, but upon assurance that there would be no reduction in the license fees the house members finally agreed on the 3-cent tax.

Many representatives pointed out that the 3-cent tax would not provide the state highway department with adequate funds for construction and maintenance work since one-third of the fund is now diverted to the county roads under an amendment passed in the general elections last fall. It was explained to them, however, that the highway department still would be assured approximately $6,000,000 annually under the 3-cent figure, and that $3,000,000 would go to the county roads.

Final action on the license fee reduction bill is expected to be taken after the senate acts upon a similar bill now pending before it.

The fight for the 4-cent tax was led by Representative R. T. Hart, Moose Lake, chairman of the motor vehicles committee, and other rural members.

Representative L. E. Brophy, of Minneapolis, and several others from the Twin Cities and Duluth, were leaders in the opposing forces.

Still others, notably Representative E. J. Chilgren, Little Fork, favored even a 5 or 6 cent gas tax because of the increased automobile travel and the consequent necessity of good roads.

The house peacemakers, however, succeeded in getting all the factions together and when it was explained that the highway department would be given what funds it required from the 3-cent tax, the bill was passed.

Later the house by a vote of 112 to 3 passed a bill which provides for refunds of taxes on gasoline used for farm machinery and commercial purposes.

Several other important motor bills were advanced to the calendar, including one for the licensing of automobile drivers and one which would require drivers once convicted of violating the motor laws to prove that they were prepared to assume personal and property damage liabilities before they would be permitted to again drive their cars.

Action on all motor car bills was expected this week.

MRS. HELEN FLOZEK IN MARITAL TROUBLES

Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Mrs. Helen Flozek who recently charged that Harold "Red" Grange was the father of her daughter, Haroldine, was granted a divorce here from Leo Flozek, a truck driver. She charged desertion.

Mrs. Flozek filed charges against the former Illinois football star but the case was dismissed after a cash settlement. Grange denied the charges.

WORKMEN REMODELING WHITE HOUSE OFFICES

Washington, April 9.—(UP)—Workmen began remodeling the White House executive offices for President Hoover and his enlarged staff today. The job will require about forty days.

During these alterations the president hopes to be away, perhaps in California. Congress adjourns in time to permit a five weeks vacation early in the summer.

Washington, April 9.—(UP)—The democratic party in the house "will put its shoulder to the wheel" and work with the republican majority for all legislation helpful to the American people, Rep. John N. Garner, new minority leader, said today.

"There will be criticism from time to time, of course, but it will be constructive instead of obstructive," Garner told the United Press. "We are solidly behind the administration's program as long as it is the best for the people of the country."

Garner, who is also ranking member of the ways and means committee, which is drafting a new tariff act, said there would be little opposition to the bill if it followed a readjustment as recommended by Pres. Hoover.

Garner said the present tariff act is wholly inadequate and discriminates against agriculture. He predicted the new law would be drafted to aid the farmer.

DEMAND NORWAY PROBE SHELLING OF STEAMER JUAN

Oslo, April 9.—(UP)—The Norwegian press and public have joined in a demand that the government "proceed energetically" after carefully investigating the shelling of the steamer Juan by a United States coast guard cutter in Chesapeake Bay, near Baltimore.

Indignation has been expressed freely since the incident occurred.

The government is awaiting the report of the Baltimore consul and announced it would take no action until the report was received.

FRANCE RATIFIES KELLOGG ANTI- WAR PACT TODAY

Paris, April 9.—(UP)—French ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty was sealed and signed today by President Gaston Doumergue and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand.

A diplomatic courier will start for Washington tonight with the document, which he will deliver to Paul Claudel, French ambassador at Washington. Claudel will transmit it to the state department.

HEAVY SNOWSTORM GRIPS MOUNTAIN AREA IN WEST

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 9.—(UP)—A heavy snowstorm gripped the inter-mountain area today, suspending automobile and street car traffic and hampering air mail pilots. An average of 4.2 inches of snow fell over Utah and the weather bureau predicted the storm would continue through the day.

LONG, HEATED DEBATE PRECEDES VOTE MONDAY

MEASURE FOR REDUCING MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSE FEES
KILLED

VOTE ON GAS TAX 104 TO 18, ON LICENSE FEES
86 TO 31

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, April 9.—After long and heated debate the Minnesota house of representatives late Monday approved an increase in the state gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents and then virtually killed the measure for reducing motor vehicle license fees.

The vote on the gas tax increase was 104 to 18 and on the motion for indefinite postponement of the license fee reduction bill, 86 to 31.

When arguments began on the gasoline tax bill there was considerable sentiment for an increase from 2 to 4 cents, the figure set in the original bill, but upon assurance that there would be no reduction in the license fees the house members finally agreed on the 3-cent tax.

Many representatives pointed out that the 3-cent tax would not provide the state highway department with adequate funds for construction and maintenance work since one-third of the fund is now diverted to the county roads under an amendment passed in the general elections last fall. It was explained to them, however, that the highway department still would be assured approximately $6,000,000 annually under the 3-cent figure, and that $3,000,000 would go to the county roads.

Final action on the license fee reduction bill is expected to be taken after the senate acts upon a similar bill now pending before it.

The fight for the 4-cent tax was led by Representative R. T. Hart, Moose Lake, chairman of the motor vehicles committee, and other rural members.

Representative L. E. Brophey, of Minneapolis, and several others from the Twin Cities and Duluth, were leaders in the opposing forces.

Still others, notably Representatives E. J. Chisgren, Little Fork, favored even a 5 or 6 cent gas tax because of the increased automobile travel and the consequent necessity of good roads.

The house pacemakers, however, succeeded in getting all the factions together and when it was explained that the highway department would be given what funds it required from the 3-cent tax, the bill was passed.

Later the house by a vote of 112 to 3 passed a bill which provides for refunds of taxes on gasoline used for farm machinery and commercial purposes.

Several other important motor bills were advanced to the calendar, including one for the licensing of automobile drivers and one which would require drivers once convicted of violating the motor laws to prove that they were prepared to assume personal and property damage liabilities before they would be permitted to again drive their cars.

Action on all motor car bills was expected this week.

MRS. HELEN FLOZEK IN MARITAL TROUBLES

Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Mrs. Helen Flozek who recently charged that Harold "Red" Grange was the father of her daughter, Haroldine, was granted a divorce here from Leo Flozek, a truck driver. She charged desertion.

Mrs. Flozek filed charges against the former Illinois football star but the case was dismissed after a cash settlement. Grange denied the charges.

WORKMEN REMODELING WHITE HOUSE OFFICES

Washington, April 9.—(UP)—Workmen began remodeling the White House executive offices for President Hoover and his enlarged staff today. The job will require about forty days.

During these alterations the president hopes to be away, perhaps in California. Congress adjourns in time to permit a five weeks vacation early in the summer.

Veterans of Foreign Wars to Meet

A meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is called for 8 o'clock Saturday evening, April 13, at the farmers room, court house, by order of the commander.

Puzzled

When a small boy in church heard the words, "Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days," he looked at his mother with inquiring eyes and asked: "Wasn't there any ducks?"

"Auld Lang Syne"

The author of the song, "Auld Lang Syne," is not known. Songs bearing this name have been sung since the Seventeenth century. The verse has been attributed to Robert Burns, who, however, credits it to an old minstrel.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

Annuals for Every Garden

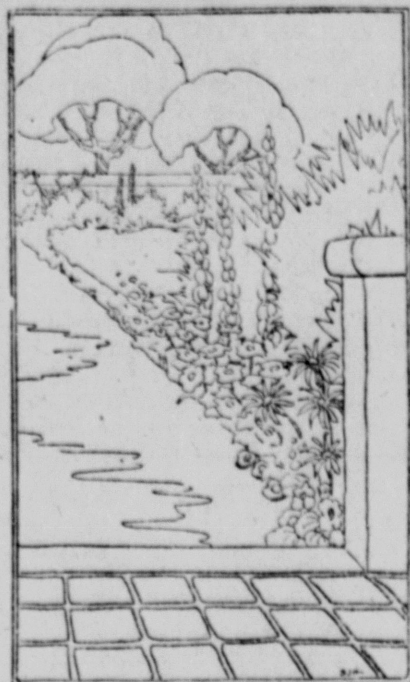

Annuals, that is, plants which grow from seed and bloom in one season, furnish some of the most beautiful of flowering plants. Owing to their varying habits and wide range of colors they are suitable for almost every conceivable position in the garden, for filling spaces vacated by early bulbs in the border, for edgings, for solid beds, for rockeries, many of them for greenhouse plants, and others for shady situations and still others for the hottest and driest of situations.

Gardeners are just coming to appreciate the true value of annuals. Various movements in gardening styles in the past have minimized the use of annuals in favor of perennials and while annuals cannot take the place of perennials as the permanent features of the garden they are necessary to supplement them and to precede or follow them as few perennial plants have all season blooming periods.

Annuals alone can completely furnish a garden giving a sheet of bloom that cannot be attained by the use of perennials alone for a long period. They are the sole dependence for great masses of color during the later half of the summer. Their possibilities have not been thoroughly realized because they have not received the care and attention necessary to their best development, largely from the fact that they grow so easily that the seed is generally sown much too thickly and the annuals are left to struggle along and despite this handicap give a good account of themselves.

The use of annuals as greenhouse plants, which has become more and more widespread, has called attention emphatically to their possibilities when cultivated as they deserve in the open ground. For the most part they wish only good soil and sunshine with watering in times of drought. The seed should be sown thinly and they should be thinned or transplanted to give each plant an opportunity to develop as it does in a pot in a greenhouse. Avoid crowding for the best development of annuals. You will get quadruple bloom as a reward. Give the taller kinds the support of stakes or twigs. Keep fading blooms picked.

two STURDY - RICH MOTOR OILS

Polarine-Iso-Vis

WHICH do you favor? Both are good motor oils—rich and sturdy. Both meet the new motoring conditions of engines running hotter because of higher compression and faster driving.

Polarine has a record of twenty years of outstanding service. Many thousands of motorists demand it wherever they go. If you want a smooth running motor—use Polarine—drain and refill your crankcase every five hundred miles.

Iso-Vis is newer. No other oil like it. It has a constant viscosity. It will not break down—it will not thin out—it lubricates faithfully and well all frictional surfaces. It wears and wears and wears!

Many Iso-Vis enthusiasts drive for a thousand miles or more without changing oil. Iso-Vis is as efficient on the last mile as on the first.

The Standard Oil Company [Indiana] recommends both. Which do you favor?

THORP PICTURES AT COURT HOUSE

THE Crow Wing County Historical society has accepted the loan of six portraits painted by the late Col. Freeman Thorp, and is displaying them in the office of County Treasurer S. R. Adair, where they may be seen to advantage by the many summer visitors, as well as the regular residents of the county.

Interest will undoubtedly center in the Lincoln portrait, which is one of the four of the Great Emancipator Thorp painted during his last years. Not only have these been declared by Lincoln's surviving relatives and associates the finest likenesses in existence, but the facts leading up to their completion are of unusual interest. Thorp centered a boy's hero worship around the rail splitting lawyer from Illinois and grasped the first opportunity to see, and to sketch in pencil, the face that he ever after vehemently affirmed was "the finest, the most expressive and the most intelligent" he ever found in all his study of faces.

A few years later, while on a furlough from cavalry service during the closing days of the Civil war, Thorp was in Washington at the time preparations were being made for the dedication of the Gettysburg national cemetery and maneuvered for permission to go there on the same train that carried the President. Luck, determination and divine providence secured him a position within 15 feet of his idol during the delivery of that unsurpassed address, and once more his pencil labored to record the rugged, worn features, the gaunt frame and "hair somewhat ruffled by the horseback ride from the station"; while in his memory he treasured every gesture, every tone, every fleeting change of expression.

"Then and there," Thorp declared, "while I thrilled to the toes of my cavalry boots with the realization that I was hearing and witnessing one of the greatest things in all history, there was born in my heart the ambition to paint Lincoln's portrait for posterity."

And in his old age this dream was realized. Four different canvases were painted before he himself was satisfied, and the United States government accepted and hung in the Senate corridor of the capitol at Washington his portrait for Abraham Lincoln, the only portrait of our "Great American" in the building. The canvas to be seen in the court house at Brainerd hung in the capitol for a few weeks, but Thorp himself deemed it too dark for the position chosen for it, and painted the canvas that now hangs there. Another one of these four belongs to "Camp Lincoln" at Lake Hubert, Minn.

During President Grant's administration Thorp was given a small studio in the capitol building itself, and painted five portraits for the Grant family. The Grant portrait of the court house collection was painted some time later, however. One of the last canvases from Thorp's brush is a speaking likeness of this great patron and friend, done in his later manner. It is now in the possession of Thorp's grandson, in Cleveland, Ohio.

A peculiar and somewhat satirical twist is given to the old political feud between Roscoe Conkling and James G. Blaine in the fact that Thorp knew and warmly admired both men, made portraits of both and these portraits now keep each other company on the court house walls in Crow Wing county. The Conkling portrait, done in the artist's earlier manner—a careful brush handling and smooth, almost porcelain finish—is one of his best, from a technical standpoint.

The portrait of old Allen G. Thurman of Ohio, at one time exhibited in the Corcoran Art Gallery under the title, "The Dreamer," has been conceded, by some of the best art critics of the country, to rank among the finest of American art. Colonel Thorp's daughters, who make this loan to the Crow Wing County Historical society, hold this picture to be above price.

Finally, there is the self-painted portrait of Crow Wing county's artist, the Colonel himself. This was made about 25 years ago in Montana, while he was working on a collection of portraits for the Montana State Historical society.

PIKE FRY COMING

IN the course of about three weeks, Brainerd will receive a shipment of from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 pike fry from the Jenkins hatchery, Whitefish lake.

And that brings us back again to the old question of transportation. Two years ago a big shipment of 1,000,000 pike fry was received for Gull lake and A. A. Weideman, sponsoring the shipment in behalf of the Crow Wing Game and Fish Protective Club, could find no volunteers although several had said they would donate trucks, and he assumed the burden by hiring transportation and after some months the Chamber of Commerce came to the rescue and paid the $50 which had been assessed against Al.

This year Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardle and A. A. Weideman are selling membership cards in the Crow Wing Game and Fish Protective Club at $1 each to assist in paying transportation costs, over and above that which is donated. It has been found that of the many who volunteer there is a percentage which fails to be at the fish car when required.

Brainerd so far has enjoyed the record of picking up promptly every shipment of fish fry and of distributing it where required, but it has taxed the ingenuity of public spirited citizens to move the fry when they come.

The pike fry this year will be distributed 2,000,000 in Gull lake; two trucks will haul 500,000 to South Long lake; one truck will haul 250,000 to Borden lake; one truck will haul 100,000 to Gilbert lake; one truck will haul 150,000 to Portage lake; one truck will haul 100,000 to Nokay lake and Pointon lake; one truck will haul to Hubert lake, 250,000 divided between Clark and Hubert lakes; one truck to haul 200,000 to Bay lake; one volunteer with a touring car for Pelican lake; and only one volunteer to date to haul for Gull lake.

With a good sale of membership cards, the transportation problem will be solved satisfactorily. When this campaign is concluded a big meeting of the club will be called, officers elected and other business transacted. The club does not burden the members with a lot of meetings, but the officers and committeemen work continuously in the interests of game and fish propagation and conservation.

Shining-eyed and fresh for the hours that count

What man is pleased at the sight of a tired-out wife . . . too borne-down with household duties to try to dress, too weary to look her best for his homecoming?

The women men adore are shining-eyed and fresh, eager for the hours that count.

More and more women today are finding a way to keep young, ten, twenty, even thirty years longer than their mothers.

The great strides of engineering and electrical science have developed marvelous labor-saving devices to relieve women of drudgery. Modern medical science is outwitting middle age by revolutionary discoveries in diet and care of the body.

But it is advertising that has aroused women to a realization of what these new household helps can do. It is advertising that has brought a knowledge of beauty aids and their use. It is advertising that has created a desire for those products which aid women to lead healthier, happier, longer lives.

Always read the advertisements. Keep up with the ever-onward sweep of progress. Do not let yourself be left behind.

THORP PICTURES AT COURT HOUSE

THE Crow Wing County Historical society has accepted the loan of six portraits painted by the late Col. Freeman Thorp, and is displaying them in the office of County Treasurer S. R. Adair, where they may be seen to advantage by the many summer visitors, as well as the regular residents of the county.

Interest will undoubtedly center in the Lincoln portrait, which is one of the four of the Great Emancipator Thorp painted during his last years. Not only have these been declared by Lincoln's surviving relatives and associates the finest likenesses in existence, but the facts leading up to their completion are of unusual interest. Thorp centered a boy's hero worship around the rail splitting lawyer from Illinois and grasped the first opportunity to see, and to sketch in pencil, the face that he ever after vehemently affirmed was "the finest, the most expressive and the most intelligent" he ever found in all his study of faces.

A few years later, while on a furlough from cavalry service during the closing days of the Civil war, Thorp was in Washington at the time preparations were being made for the dedication of the Gettysburg national cemetery and maneuvered for permission to go there on the same train that carried the President. Luck, determination and divine providence secured him a position within 15 feet of his idol during the delivery of that unsurpassed address, and once more his pencil labored to record the rugged, worn features, the gaunt frame and "hair somewhat ruffled by the horseback ride from the station"; while in his memory he treasured every gesture, every tone, every fleeting change of expression.

"Then and there," Thorp declared, "while I thrilled to the toes of my cavalry boots with the realization that I was hearing and witnessing one of the greatest things in all history, there was born in my heart the ambition to paint Lincoln's portrait for posterity."

And in his old age this dream was realized. Four different canvases were painted before he himself was satisfied, and the United States government accepted and hung in the Senate corridor of the capitol at Washington his portrait for Abraham Lincoln, the only portrait of our "Great American" in the building. The canvas to be seen in the court house at Brainerd hung in the capitol for a few weeks, but Thorp himself deemed it too dark for the position chosen for it, and painted the canvas that now hangs there. Another one of these four belongs to "Camp Lincoln" at Lake Hubert, Minn.

During President Grant's administration Thorp was given a small studio in the capitol building itself, and painted five portraits for the Grant family. The Grant portrait of the court house collection was painted some time later, however. One of the last canvases from Thorp's brush is a speaking likeness of this great patron and friend, done in his later manner. It is now in the possession of Thorp's grandson, in Cleveland, Ohio.

A peculiar and somewhat satirical twist is given to the old political feud between Roscoe Conkling and James G. Blaine in the fact that Thorp knew and warmly admired both men, made portraits of both and these portraits now keep each other company on the court house walls in Crow Wing county. The Conkling portrait, done in the artist's earlier manner—a careful brush handling and smooth, almost porcelain finish—is one of his best, from a technical standpoint.

The portrait of old Allen G. Thurman of Ohio, at one time exhibited in the Corcoran Art Gallery under the title, "The Dreamer," has been conceded, by some of the best art critics of the country, to rank among the finest of American art. Colonel Thorp's daughters, who make this loan to the Crow Wing County Historical society, hold this picture to be above price.

Finally, there is the self-painted portrait of Crow Wing county's artist, the Colonel himself. This was made about 25 years ago in Montana, while he was working on a collection of portraits for the Montana State Historical society.

BECK WINS STATE LIGHTWEIGHT WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP

WINS TWO OUT OF THREE FALLS FROM ROSS LAST NIGHT

ROSS USES REVERSE NELSON TO WIN FIRST FALL IN 63 MINUTES

BECK COMBINES SHORT ARM, SCISSORS, ARM LOCK TO CAPTURE SECOND FALL

Forced to use every hold known to the science of wrestling, Johnny Beck, Brainerd, wrestled the state lightweight wrestling crown from the sturdy shoulders of Fred Ross, Pequot, by winning two out of three falls in a match to a finish at the U. C. T. auditorium last evening.

The match was without question the best sporting event of the ring seen here in years. It attracted an audience of 225 who went away from the auditorium satisfied.

The event proved the worth of two Crow Wing county athletes in the wrestling game. It was one that would have met approval in any part of the country.

Beck and Ross were in the best of condition, attested to by the fact that it required Ross one hour and three minutes to pin the shoulders of Beck on the mat for the first fall with a reverse Nelson.

The second fall went to Beck in 14 minutes and 25 seconds. The Brainerd hope won with a combination short arm, scissors and arm lock holds. Beck was applauded roundly from all parts of the hall.

After 20 minutes of wrestling for the third fall Ross surrendered the deciding fall when Beck administered a head scissors and wristlock.

The last fall climaxed one hour and 37 seconds of actual wrestling that was packed with thrills and clever wrestling. In spite of the determination of both wrestlers to win the event was clean. Not one of the boys reverted to "Gus Sonnenberg-Strangler Lewis" methods.

Lester Peterson as promoter provided a bill of entertainment that was every bit worth the price of admission.

"Dud" Robideau, Pine River, handled the events in a capable manner. He is a seasoned mat man who knows the game from A to Z, having competed in various clashes throughout the country.

"Lorrie" Swanson and John Gabiou of high school fame mixed it in the opening preliminary, all boxing preliminaries being three one-minute rounds and wrestling preliminaries to one fall limited to 15 minutes.

Swanson was given a ring side decision over Gabiou, winning the first two rounds. Gabiou found himself in the third round, taking the offensive by delivering a few hefty blows to Swanson's body.

Montgomery was given a shade over Hanson in a lively set-to in the second preliminary. The Brainerd boys weighed in at 140 pounds each.

Jim Gabiou came back in the third round but honors went to his opponent, Greener, in the first two rounds. The Brainerd boys staged a clever bit of fighting. They are in the 150 pound class.

Henry Viken, introduced as the Lumberjack Champ, won the first round from Patterson, hailed as the garage champion, and fought a draw in the second. Both fighters slackened pace in the final round.

Mayo won over Evans in the first wrestling clash by a fall in 6½ minutes. The Brainerd boys in the 135 pound class provided a choice bit of mat work that was not without humor.

Carlson of Brainerd, 150 pounds, and Schiffer, Pine River, 133 pounds, went 15 minutes without a fall in the best preliminary clash.

Fuller, of basketball and football fame, won by a fall from Bedore with a bar arm hold in five minutes.

Rofidal of Brainerd and Houston of Pine River provided an exciting 15 minutes of wrestling without a fall as the closing preliminary.

Spied of Birds
Professor Fleitmann, of Roeschlin, East Prussia, gives the following as the established speeds of certain birds during migration: The sparrow develops a speed of 25 miles an hour; the gray gull the black back zull and the Norway crow have the same speed, 31 miles an hour. The rock and the finches reach 32 miles an hour. The speediest flyer is the starling with approximately 45 miles an hour.

Think Before You Eat
Science has discovered that the gastric juices are influenced by the mental condition of the individual, that food wetted with tears is like poison to the body, that the quality of food is not half so important as the mental condition of the eater.—American Magazine.

SELECTING 8 NATIONAL A. A. U. CHAMPIONS FROM 114 BOXERS

Boston, April 9.—(U.P.)—The process of selecting eight national A. A. U. champions from a field of 114 boxers from all parts of the United States was under way here today.

The annual national boxing tournament opened last night with many local champions competing for titles in their respective classes. The tournament is to close tomorrow night.

New York, April 9.—Sizing up the sixteen major league teams a week before the opening of the 1929 baseball season, we expect no radical reversals from last year's form in the two pennant races beginning next Tuesday.

The New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics may have slipped a trifle, yet that remains to be seen for training camp evidence sometimes proves misleading. They are quite likely to battle for the pennant again.

The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs are favorites in the National League race, with the St. Louis Cardinals possibly figuring importantly in a close race.

The American League teams in a nutshell follow:

Yankees—same old tough team to beat. Possibly improved pitching with Pennock back. Catching will be weak until Bengough returns. Spirit of club good as players really want to get a new American League record of four straight pennants.

Athletics—no better than last year, with a patched-up infield and a crippled pitching staff. Inferiority complex of A's when they play the Yankees turned tide of race last year and Philadelphia can hope for no better than second place unless it does better than 6 out of 22 against the Yanks this season.

Washington—a dangerous club under Walter Johnson's leadership. Myer at third and Bluege at short-stop have strengthened the infield. Pitching good. Will have to be watched all the way.

Browns—Failure of a rookie third baseman to make good hasn't brightened Browns' prospects. Gray and Crowder will have to repeat last year's records to keep Browns up there.

Detroit—a good team but can Bucky Harris get a team that would not play for Morarity to play for him? Plenty of punch but pitching rather doubtful.

Cleveland—completely reorganized and may spring a surprise. Too many left-handed hitters in line-up but if all changes pan out well, the Indians may get some place.

White Sox—Stronger in outfield, but pitching and infield about same. Blackburne will have trouble trying to keep dissension from cropping out again.

Red Sox—Many changes and likely to get out of cellar if White Sox flop. The National League teams in a nutshell follow:

Giants—greatly improved team over last season. Mays and Walker figure to strengthen pitching staff. Welsh, Ott, Hogan, O'Farrell all look better than last season. Leach will add strength. Looks like club to beat.

Cubs—Are the Cubs stronger with Hornsby or aren't they? Maguire played a great defensive game at second last season and the Cubs may miss him although Hornsby will add power. Third base is a weak spot and pitching staff is not stronger.

Cardinals—Showing of Cardinals likely to depend on what veteran pitchers do. Revamped infield uncertain. Outfield stronger than last year.

Pittsburgh—a great offensive team but defensively none too strong. Traynor's hip injury and Paul Waner's holdout tactics have retarded the Pirates. Petty will strengthen pitching staff.

Cincinnati—Have no punch but may be troublesome if veteran pitchers function smoothly. Third base is a weak spot. Kelly slipping at first base.

Brooklyn—not as good as last year. Pitching staff weaker and injuries to Wright, Flowers and others have weakened team.

Braves—worst looking ball club in either league.

Phillies—Thevenow's injury cost Phillies chance to climb to sixth place and maybe higher. Young, hustling club but can't go any place without pitching.

SERVICE MOTOR DEFEATS JONES' TEAM, 6 TO 3

FOSTER BELIEVES E. GABIOU AFTER LATTER HAD BEEN TOUCHED FOR 4 RUNS

SERVICE MOTOR SCORES FOUR IN FIRST; SINCLAIR OIL VS. ALDERMAN-MAGHAN TONIGHT

The Service Motor Co. diamondball team handed the Paul M. Jones team their first defeat of the season last night by a score of 6 to 3.

E. Gabiou started on the mound for Paul M. Jones and was touched for four runs in the first inning on three hits coupled with an error. At this juncture Foster took the mound and held the Service Motors at bay for the rest of the game, only allowing two hits, one of which was a home run by LaTella. Whitlock, pitching for the winners, held the Jones men scoreless until the fourth inning when he issued three passes which, with an error, permitted Paul M. Jones to score a run. In the fifth inning they added two more runs on a pass, fielder's choice, and a three base hit by Lyons.

Tonight the Sinclair Oil Co. will clash with the Alderman-Maghan. The "Oilers" are undefeated to date having beaten the Moose 18 to 1, while Alderman-Maghan dropped an exciting contest to the Northern Pacific Railway 16 to 13. The game should prove to be a thriller as both teams possess a tremendous batting punch and fast fielding combinations. The game will start at 6:15.

Famous Dueling Ground

The Oaks, one of the most famous dueling grounds in the world, was in the suburbs of New Orleans. On one particular Sunday in 1828, ten duels were fought there. Between 1834 and 1844, scarcely a day passed without a duel. The Oaks on this ground are still standing. Duels in those days were fought over such unimportant differences that they would now be regarded as trivial.

Change of Stance May Help Wallop

When Phil Todt (above) broke in with the Red Sox he was a skilled outfielder and a bad actor at bat, but, after Joe Harris was hurt and Phil had to break in in the initial sack, his efforts to learn the new position hurt his batting. Now Phil is one of the leading first sackers in the game, but decidedly an in-and-out when it comes to walloping the horsehide. This makes Phil go to work on his hitting or lose out to Jerry Standaert, the Belgian player who packs a mean and regular sock with the bat.

Tired of the Cellar

By QUIN HALL

WHILE your roving reporter refuses to make any rash statements during the Spring training period of the big league ball clubs, we will venture to say that the Philadelphia National League club is sure to be as good this year as it was in 1928. Also, the Phillies finished eighth last season.

This year the boys who like to go on record with Spring predictions are, to a large extent, giving the Phillies the seventh spot at the worst with a good chance to climb a little higher up the ladder. The eighth hole is being reserved generally for the Boston Braves but, as we've stated, anything is likely to happen in baseball and its prophecies are often wrong.

Manager Burt Shotton and his Phillies are, however, all fed up on the musty smell which accompanies the cellar position. At Winter Haven, where they were doing their training earlier in the year, they looked capable of pushing up the cover to the basement and grabbing themselves a chunk of sunlight.

While the Florida trained teams were basking about the State, trying to pick up all the loose change they could grab by playing exhibition games for the natives and the Winter tourists, Shotton came right out and admitted that the future of the club depended on what sort of pitching he got. This is not an original idea in baseball by any means. Almost any manager will tell you that a lot depends on the twirling staff. With Shotton, however, the statement made looks reasonable. With scarcely any pitching at all last season the Phils did manage to grab some games. With a twirler or two this year, they'll be much better.

In their early grind in Florida this Spring, the club looks stronger than in 1928 and the question as to weak twirling looked as if it might be solved—at least partially, or enough to boost them a trifle higher in the standings at the end of the Summer campaign.

The Phillies have a very capable infield with Big Don Hurst covering the initial corners; Fresno Thompson, the peppery mechanic at second; "Pinkey" Whitney at third, and Tommy Thevenow at short. In training, these fellows all looked to be in the pink and, unless injury overtakes some of them, it is probably the infield which Shotton will use this Summer.

Burt had plenty of good outfield material at Winter Haven but it's a cinch that Old Cy Williams will be—as usual—the important cog in the outer garden. Cy didn't do as much four-ply swatting last year as he did in 1927, but he was rapping the apple smartly in traiping and seems set for another big year. Among the others trying for the outfield job, Shotton should be able to pick a bang-up trio for regular duty.

For a time at Winter Haven, Shotton had fourteen moundmen eating at the expense of the club, which indicates how earnestly the pilot is trying to spear some good twirling talent. One of the last pitchers to arrive was James Madison Holloway, of Plaquemine, La. Holloway is six feet one inch in height, weighs 165 pounds, throws and bats right handed, and looks good enough to be a corner. He's only twenty and starred with the Southwest Louisiana Institute in football, basketball and baseball. He played semi-pro ball in 1926 and 1927. Several clubs are said to have been after him before he decided to cast his lot with the Phillies. He may prove one of the life savers that Shotton is looking for.

With any sort of breaks the Phils are likely to get out of the cellar in 1929.

BECK WINS STATE LIGHTWEIGHT WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP

WINS TWO OUT OF THREE FALLS FROM ROSS LAST NIGHT

ROSS USES REVERSE NELSON TO WIN FIRST FALL IN 63 MINUTES

BECK COMBINES SHORT ARM, SCISSORS, ARM LOCK TO CAPTURE SECOND FALL

Forced to use every hold known to the science of wrestling, Johnny Beck, Brainerd, wrestled the state lightweight wrestling crown from the sturdy shoulders of Fred Ross, Pequot, by winning two out of three falls in a match to a finish at the U. C. T. auditorium last evening.

The match was without question the best sporting event of the ring seen here in years. It attracted an audience of 225 who went away from the auditorium satisfied.

The event proved the worth of two Crow Wing county athletes in the wrestling game. It was one that would have met approval in any part of the country.

Beck and Ross were in the best of condition, attested to by the fact that it required Ross one hour and three minutes to pin the shoulders of Beck on the mat for the first fall with a reverse Nelson.

The second fall went to Beck in 14 minutes and 25 seconds. The Brainerd hope won with a combination short arm, scissors and arm lock holds. Beck was applauded roundly from all parts of the hall.

After 20 minutes of wrestling for the third fall Ross surrendered the deciding fall when Beck administered a head scissors and wristlock.

The last fall climaxed one hour and 37 seconds of actual wrestling that was packed with thrills and clever wrestling. In spite of the determination of both wrestlers to win the event was clean. Not one of the boys reverted to "Gus Sonnenberg-Strangler Lewis" methods.

Lester Peterson as promoter provided a bill of entertainment that was every bit worth the price of admission.

"Dud" Robideau, Pine River, handled the events in a capable manner. He is a seasoned man who knows the game from A to Z, having competed in various clashes throughout the country.

"Lorrie" Swanson and John Gabiou of high school fame mixed it in the opening preliminary, all boxing preliminaries being three one-minute rounds and wrestling preliminaries to one fall limited to 15 minutes.

Swanson was given a ring side decision over Gabiou, winning the first two rounds. Gabiou found himself in the third round, taking the offensive by delivering a few hefty blows to Swanson's body.

Montgomery was given a shade over Hanson in a lively set-to in the second preliminary. The Brainerd boys weighed in at 140 pounds each.

Jim Gabiou came back in the third round but honors went to his opponent, Greener, in the first two rounds. The Brainerd boys staged a clever bit of fighting. They are in the 150 pound class.

Henry Viken, introduced as the Lumberjack Champ, won the first round from Patterson, hailed as the garage champion, and fought a draw in the second. Both fighters slackened pace in the final round.

Mayo won over Evans in the first wrestling clash by a fall in 6½ minutes. The Brainerd boys in the 135 pound class provided a choice bit of mat work that was not without humor.

Carlson of Brainerd, 150 pounds, and Schiffer, Pine River, 133 pounds, went 15 minutes without a fall in the best preliminary clash.

Fuller, of basketball and football fame, won by a fall from Bedore with a bar arm hold in five minutes. Roffald of Brainerd and Houston of Pine River provided an exciting 15 minutes of wrestling without a fall as the closing preliminary.

Speed of Birds

Professor Thompson of Rosetten East Prussia gives the following as the established speeds of certain birds during migration: The sparrow develops a speed of 25 miles an hour; the gray gull, the black back gull and the Norway crow have the same speed, 31 miles an hour. The crow and the finches reach 32 miles an hour. The speediest flyer is the Starling with approximately 45 miles an hour.

SELECTING 8 NATIONAL A. A. U. CHAMPIONS FROM 114 BOXERS

Boston, April 9.—(U.P.)—The process of selecting eight national A. A. U. champions from a field of 114 boxers from all parts of the United States was under way here today.

The annual national boxing tournament opened last night with many local champions competing for titles in their respective classes. The tournament is to close tomorrow night.

W. F. WIELAND TELLS OF B. H. S. MEMORIES

Compliance with the request that I write briefly of my memories of old Brainerd High has brought me sharply to a realization that inexorable time has somewhat blurred the memory as to detail or any particular event that might be of interest. Instead, there is left the pleasant recollections of the associations with good friends in a good school in a good town.

When I entered Brainerd High, it was then a combination of the old and new, for it was that fall that we first used the second floor of the addition built to the south of the old building and continued to use the second floor of the old building. All the high school students did not then half fill the assembly room. It was there that we freshmen of the class of 1905 were despoiled to the nth degree by the sophomores, frowned upon by the juniors, and tolerated in a paternalistic way by the learned seniors. The lower floors were used for grade schools, for in those days no one thought of manual training, domestic science and other special work, and athletics and a few other student activities were carried on in spite of the faculty and with no supervision. There was no orchestra, class plays, or basketball games at the school, and no parent-teachers association. So the building was not used at night, although I have in mind a certain clandestine visit to the old school one Halloween. Probably I had better not go into detail.

Times and standards are changed. And while the old building with its pleasant associations was adequate then and served its purpose, let us hope that the new Brainerd High will rise from the ashes of the old to serve even better in preparing our young people to be useful citizens.

Walter F. Wieland,
Class of '05.

SENIORS PREPARE FOR ANNUAL DRESS UP DAY

One of the famous old traditions of Brainerd high will be repeated this Friday, April 12, it promises an informal day of merrymaking and marks one of the last of high school frolics for the class of '29. The gala occasion is Senior Dress-up Day. By probing a bit into the past of this interesting custom, Miss Tornstrom recalls the very first dress-up day Brainerd seniors ever held. This was in 1917. When the appointed morning arrived, school was called as usual, but with no senior boys in sight! Fearfully anticipating some prank, Miss Tornstrom, inwardly perturbed, awaited developments. Soon the missing tribe loomed into view en masse, plodding down the street, all miraculously turned into tramps!

The class of '20 Miss Tornstrom also remembers as being unusually individual; all seniors appearing either as negroes or gypsies. Since this time however, costuming has been left pretty much to the whims of the wearers, which custom will be followed this year.

Besides a program, the regular Junior candy sale will be held in collaboration with the dress-up to complete the excitement of the day.

PHYSICS CLASS VIEWS CITY PUMPING STATION

The Physics class, under the tutelage of Mr. LaMeter enjoyed a session Wednesday, of a somewhat different type than the usual ones. The surprise that Mr. LaMeter promised, turned out to be a visit to the local pumping apparatus and the control system.

Although the distance to the station is about two miles the entire class hiked, and with the help of all-day suckers for which the class is much indebted to Rose Lukens, they reached their destination without anyone dropping by the wayside. Mr. McQuillan, caretaker of the station, very kindly explained the use of the various devices in the building much to the enlightenment of the students.

Oh! For crying out loud!—Gerald Halverson.

Let's make Whoopee — Milton Ginsberg.

Oh! For cats sake—Fanny Quinlan.

What does that make me?—Arlene Hagberg.

Where to, next —Marie Volk.

That's just too bad—Harry Goelders.

Don't try to be clever —Doris Geist.

Oh! Well!—Ashley Stanley.

BRAINERD TRACK ATHLETES BEGIN WORKOUTS IN GREGORY PARK WED.

JOHN GABIOU ONLY LETTERMAN TO RETURN FOR SEASON

Prospective track men at B. H. S. got their first opportunity to go through their paces last week when the first practices were held in Gregory Park. Coach Kasch has been holding practices in conjunction with the spring football workouts in order to conserve time. With only one letterman, John Gabiou, back to carry on, the prospects are not very bright but perhaps new men can be found to take part in track events.

At the meeting held Thursday, twenty-five candidates reported with the possibility of several more turning out later. Coach Kasch stresses the fact that a track team must be well balanced in order to win a meet and only by constant practice can this be accomplished. Mr. Cobb spoke a few words to the boys stating that although Brainerd might not have a winning team this year, they should keep trying and with the new high school next year prospects should be better.

The district meet will be held at Little Falls, and this, together with the interclass meets and the decathlon will provide plenty of exercise for the tracksters.

Brainerd Hi-Y Sends Sole Delegate to Willmar

Although the regular weekly meeting of the Senior Hi-Y club last Wednesday eve was attended by a slight catastrophe in the form of a miniature conflagration which was soon extinguished but which succeeded in smoking up the Y. M. C. A. parlors to such a degree that it was necessary to adjourn to the library to proceed with the banquet, the meeting was thoroughly enjoyable and a goodly amount of business was efficiently attended to.

The delicious coffee with which the club members were waiting to refresh themselves, was bubbling merrily upon the little (two burner) oil stove placed in the Y. for that purpose when the aforesaid warming apparatus was seized by a sudden inspiration and burst into flames, which all accounts for the adjournment to the lower halls.

Upon hearing of the Hi-Y convention to be held at Willmar, the local chapter duly appropriated money to send a delegate to bring back all the inspiration and ideas to be obtained.

Dicky Ebert, who happened to be that delegate, arrived in Willmar to find himself the only out of town delegate. Dicky reports that he thoroughly enjoyed himself and we will all look forward with a great deal of pleasure to his account of his adventures as the guest of honor at the conference, which will be in our next issue.

New Biology Contracts Offered Sophomores

New Biology contracts have been assigned in Miss Laipple's classes. They differ from the old conventional form of contracts in that they are not compulsory. Any student may signify his intention to meet the necessary obligations or not, just as he chooses. This contract work will enable the student to obtain a better grade than otherwise might be received. An A student is expected to secure 25 points in addition to his regular work, while B, C and D students are required to obtain 15 and 10 points and outline daily lessons, respectively.

After the singing Monday morning, Miss Tornstrom came forth with the startling statement that Miss Herwig, our beloved history teacher, was born about ten miles from the Little Brown Church in the Vale—the church about which the students had just been singing. The song, written by Dr. William Pitts, has made the church famous. Miss Herwig told her history classes a few details about the church, and said that many couples could boast of having been married there.

YE EDITOR

No doubt you were somewhat surprised (and we hope, delighted) at seeing the full seven columns of our page taken up with Brainerdian material and we beg to relieve you with an explanation of this extraordinary occurrence. Due to the fact that our special edition of last week aroused so much interest among the Alumni of our old high school, we received more material than we were able to print and, finding these articles too interesting and profitable to be omitted, we have secured this extra space and have them published for your benefit.

By the way—how did you like our "In Memoriam" edition? We would like to hear from you.

We accept all compliments and knocks with the same spirit and will try to find space to print your letter.

BRAINONIAN 'VODVIL' SET FOR APR. 25 OR 26

The Brainerdian "Vodvil" is again in the making. The date has been set for the 25th or 26th of April. The last entertainment in the old school was the vodvil of "Muff" Downie's invention. This year his master hand is seen in the various acts to be presented. There will be three divisions of the entertainment:—a one act humorous play will be first on the bill. Following that will be a black face skit of half an hour's duration by the boys glee club. For this varying minstrel acts and songs have been chosen, melodious and humorous, all of them laugh provoking.

To end the evening's entertainment there will be a variety of "vodvil" proper, some of it serious, some of it pure "hokum" but all of it enjoyable and thoroughly worth while.

Community Singing Popular With Students

"Blue Monday," ordinarily found in almost every school, is a thing of the past in the Brainerd high school. The faculty have found a way to dispel the usual little "glooms" that manifest themselves on Monday morning and all through the day by means of community singing, which certainly brings results if the apparent interest and delight shown by the students is any criterion. They join heartily in the singing and seem to enjoy it so thoroughly that when they arrive for classes the sleepiness which often is a cause for despair on the part of the teacher, is gone.

In response to the invitation to ask for certain songs which they desired to be sung, the students swamped Miss Tornstrom's desk with requests for the "Spanish Cavalier." This song was desired by all the students who sent in lists, with one exception only. Miss O'Brien and Mr. LaMeter, who lead the singing, will no doubt respond to this overwhelming expression on the part of the students.

CONTESTANTS IN READINESS FOR HIGH SCHOOL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

THE FACULTY

Miss Mildred O'Brien, our one and only Latin teacher, had the good fortune, not so long ago, to have Brainerd as her birthplace. She immediately adopted our beautiful and prosperous little city and became so fond of it that she remained here ever since. It was in the old high school, about which we have been hearing so much of late, where Miss O'Brien received her first inspiration to teach. There also she developed an interest for music which later became her chief hobby. She received her college education at St. Theresa where she graduated in music.

Miss O'Brien first taught a short time at Norwood, Minnesota, but heeding the call of her domestic nature she returned to Brainerd, in order that she might always be near the scene of her childhood days.

ATHLETICS IN THE OLD HIGH

The development of athletics in Brainerd owes much to the old B. H. S. because it was from her that it obtained its nourishment and under her care that it has grown to be what it is today—an asset to be proud of. It was not until after the Brainerd High School was built that the people took an interest in athletics and this interest was based mostly upon certain individuals. Up until 1921 those that were interested bought their own equipment, found what time and means they could to practice, waged their combats and added their laurels to those already obtained in other lines of activities. Among the mighty football warriors of those early days are George Mahood and Jim Alderman.

In 1921 Mr. Rosel was appointed athletic director and it was under his management that things were organized. Plays were put on to obtain money to buy suits for the baseball team. Prior to this suits were borrowed from players of preceding years or else bought by the players themselves.

At this time the gym was nothing but baskets erected in the attic. In place of the plastered walls, rafters decorated the court. Every time snow fell boys had to sweep it off the gym floor before the team could play. There were no comfortable bleachers to accommodate the crowds as there were before the fire. Instead of these the fans had to sit on benches, boxes or tables. Most of them were anxious to stand so that they could move around to keep warm as there was no way to keep heat in the place for any length of time. How different from the gym we graduates of the last few years remember!

All the football and baseball games were played on the Koering grounds. This was not so bad because the Koering grounds at that time made a very good athletic park. Although it was low and wet at times it was level and well padded. It may take a few years yet to get the new athletic park in shape but when it is completed we will have a park that is far superior to the old one. There will be a baseball diamond, football grounds and track that will take care of all the outdoor sports most adequately.

And with the gym as planned for the new school, there will be no complaints against poor playing facilities. With the great progress made under the old, inadequate playing facilities imagine the achievements that ought to be obtained with all these new encouragements!

Edith: Is it true that Catherine has a secret sorrow?
Lois: Heavens, yes! Hasn't she told you about it yet?

Miss Schow: "How many sides has a circle?"
Frosh: "Two."
Miss Schow: "What are they?"
Frosh: "Inside and outside."

Our prize nitwit is a frosh who wanted to know what kind of an instrument a rank was, because he read in a book that "Thomas Edison was an inventor of the first rank."

GAMES TO START ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON AFTER SCHOOL

Much excitement has swept the school as the time for the annual tennis tournament has again appeared. There are twenty-four contestants, and among them many very good players, therefore some exciting sets are being anticipated. The games will probably begin Thursday afternoon after school. One set elimination will be given to the boys and two out of three sets to the girls. Those taking part and their opponents for the first bout are:

1. Gaylord Kinney vs. George McCaffrey.
 2. Ross Olmsted vs. Warren Golemboski.
 3. Roger Kleven vs. Hugh McCaffrey.
 4. David Weber vs. Ralph Anderson.
 5. Monroe Kelly vs. Allan Johnson.
 6. LeRoy Wyatt vs. Donald Geist.
 7. Zane Smith vs. John Chadbourne.
 8. Dick Ebert vs. Al Trommald.
- In the girls' tournament.
1. Alice Nolan vs. Louise Clausen.
 2. Katherine Sheets vs. Helen Bane.
 3. Helen Sheets vs. Janet Kampmann.
 4. Dorothy Kinney vs. Doris Geist.

JUNIORS TO SELL CANDY SENIOR DRESS UP DAY

Juniors will sell candy on one of the big days of the year which is Senior dress-up day. Booths will be found in both the city hall and the old courthouse so that lovers of good sweets can fulfill their desires easily. This important means of raising money was decided upon at the Junior meeting held last Thursday evening.

Plans for the Junior-Senior banquet were discussed. Preparations for this event must be begun immediately, said Mr. Johnson, one of the advisers, as he urged cooperation on the part of all Juniors.

Those who will be permitted to attend the banquet must have paid their dues for the entire year. Those who are designated Juniors this semester and who desire to attend the banquet should see Miss Tornstrom for confirmation of their status and then report to the Junior president, Ross Olmsted.

Aptitude Tests To Be Given to Seniors Wed.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, the College Aptitude Tests will be given in the assembly of the Old Court House. Any senior having any intentions, no matter how vague, of attending college next year is urged to take this test. Last year the greater per cent of the seniors took the test and Brainerd high was very proud of its claim to Donald McNamara who placed second in the state.

The purpose of these Aptitude tests given every year to prospective college attenders is to test the student in his chances for a successful college career. If a low grade is made, the student is discouraged rather than encouraged to attend college because his prospects would be limited in this line. A high grade, however, would assure the student of the advisability of going on to college.

The tests are given by the Association of Minnesota Colleges which is made up of all the leading state colleges such as the University, Carleton, Augsburg, Macalester, St. Olaf's, St. Catherine's, etc. There are 95 towns in Minnesota giving the exams.

The only equipment necessary for taking the test is several sharpened pencils. No preparation is required.

DONALD McNAMARA REVIEWS H. S. DAYS

My memories of high school — imagine the thoughts that surge to the mind of one of the graduates of last year's unusual class when he is asked to tell about the things he sees in retrospect. Come to him again thoughts of the happy times he had; of the wonderful things he did. From this still near perspective his high school days seem to fall into two divisions: the somewhat over three and a half years he spent in that beloved and maligned old school that is now only a memory, and those last few months of school in hastily chosen quarters. He recalls, as any graduate may, his freshman thrills and sensations, his adjustments to the new surroundings, his first successes, and the mistakes which seem now not so momentous; and he tries to remember, without success, when the devotion for his alma mater first began to pervade his spirit. Freshman, Sophomore, Junior years passed by, each leaving its share of accomplishments behind. The glamorous Senior year came to bring a true enjoyment of the friendships made during the former years of comradeship, and a last attempt to do those things which perhaps should have been done before.

This Senior year it was that allows the graduate of '28 to think of his class as unusual. When he had but two months of his high school life left, the aged building which had sheltered him burned. The early spring morning when he stood to watch the old building make its exit after years of true service left one of the dearest memories he holds. Comrades drew closer during the following weeks. The unusual conditions drew the class closer together by trying it with unexpected problems. The days left with each graduate a sense of the worth of his fellows; they left him memories of final days which fitly climaxed a period of work and wonderful happiness.

ANTARCTICA IN THE OLD COURT HOUSE

As we open the door a cold damp draft rushes forth chilling us to the marrow of our bones and we are undecided as to whether or not we really want to explore the cavern, but at last we summon up some courage and turning our coat collars higher we plunge into the unexplored. A strange yellow light seems to come from the high vaulted ceiling, a sickly weird glow. As we step forward cautiously there is an icy tinkling. Thoughts of ice caverns and glaciers paralyze us; but only for a minute, for closer scrutiny reveals a heap of milk bottles, some empty, some full, some transparent, some not so transparent, some in one piece, some in more. With a sigh of relief we straddle them but our peace of mind is not for long. Our shoulder brushes against a shelf and we are submerged by an avalanche of Latin, French, and Algebra books. By the time we extricate ourselves, our eyes become used to the darkness and we are able to recognize familiar objects here and there. On our right are stacks of permanent records that Miss Tornstrom rescued from the fire; still on the right but a little farther into the labyrinth we notice a box of discarded scientific paraphernalia while directly above it rest two ice cream cans and two canvas bags.

Still farther in and still on the right we notice objects with which we are more familiar, a box of song books topped off by a stack of Modern and Ancient History books. On the left we see row on row of shelves. Those in the foreground groaning under the weight of uncalled-for fountain pens, pencils, pins and rubber bands and way down in the pile we spy two rusty corroded pennies. In the background we see books, little black leather bound ones, slightly larger cloth bound ones, monstrous legislative journals, red ones, blue ones, green ones and here and there an orange one. The back ground is formed by a solid wall of paper. By this time the magnitude of the scene has awed us, gazing we stand for some few minutes more and then half-frozen stagger through the door.

We emerge just in time to hear Miss Tornstrom's voice requesting someone to close that vault door because it cools off the whole building and the old court house isn't any too warm anyway.

Pause a moment and hearken unto us. Have you heard the latest popular songs? As the announcer says in introducing Amos and Andy, here they are:

The Waddle Song—"Waddle I do when you are far away?"

That Dirty Song—"Muddy Waters."

That Tamale Song—"Just Tamale and me and Baby makes three."

That Dago Song—"Dago wild simply Wild over me."

That Tango Song—"Tango rain no More."

That Lazy Man's Song—"Moon-beams, Kiss her for Me."

That Asthma Song—"Asthma Baby Now."

W. F. WIELAND TELLS OF B. H. S. MEMORIES

Compliance with the request that I write briefly of my memories of old Brainerd High has brought me sharply to a realization that inexorable time has somewhat blurred the memory as to detail or any particular event that might be of interest. Instead, there is left the pleasant recollections of the associations with good friends in a good school in a good town.

When I entered Brainerd High, it was then a combination of the old and new, for it was that fall that we first used the second floor of the addition built to the south of the old building and continued to use the second floor of the old building. All the high school students did not then half fill the assembly room. It was there that we freshmen of the class of 1905 were despoiled to the nth degree by the sophomores, frowned upon by the juniors, and tolerated in a paternalistic way by the learned seniors. The lower floors were used for grade schools, for in those days no one thought of manual training, domestic science and other special work, and athletics and a few other student activities were carried on in spite of the faculty and with no supervision. There was no orchestra, class plays, or basketball games at the school, and no parent-teachers association. So the building was not used at night, although I have in mind a certain clandestine visit to the old school one Halloween. Probably I had better not go into detail.

Times and standards are changed. And while the old building with its pleasant associations was adequate then and served its purpose, let us hope that the new Brainerd High will rise from the ashes of the old to serve even better in preparing our young people to be useful citizens.

Walter F. Wieland,
Class of '05.

SENIORS PREPARE FOR ANNUAL DRESS UP DAY

One of the famous old traditions of Brainerd high will be repeated this Friday, April 12, it promises an informal day of merrymaking and marks one of the last of high school frolics for the class of '29. The gala occasion is Senior Dress-up Day.

By probing a bit into the past of this interesting custom, Miss Tornstrom recalls the very first dress-up day Brainerd seniors ever held. This was in 1917. When the appointed morning arrived, school was called as usual, but with no senior boys in sight! Fearfully anticipating some prank, Miss Tornstrom, inwardly perturbed, awaited developments. Soon the missing tribe loomed into view en masse, plodding down the street, all miraculously turned into tramps!

The class of '20 Miss Tornstrom also remembers as being unusually individual: all seniors appearing either as negroes or gypsies. Since this time however, costuming has been left pretty much to the whims of the wearers, which custom will be followed this year.

Besides a program, the regular Junior candy sale will be held in collaboration with the dress-up to complete the excitement of the day.

PHYSICS CLASS VIEWS CITY PUMPING STATION

The Physics class, under the tutelage of Mr. LaMeter enjoyed a session Wednesday, of a somewhat different type than the usual ones. The surprise that Mr. LaMeter promised, turned out to be a visit to the local pumping apparatus and the control system.

Although the distance to the station is about two miles the entire class hiked, and with the help of all-day suckers for which the class is much indebted to Rose Lukens, they reached their destination without anyone dropping by the wayside. Mr. McQuillan, caretaker of the station, very kindly explained the use of the various devices in the building much to the enlightenment of the students.

Oh! For crying out loud!—Gerald Halverson.

Let's make Whoopee — Milton Ginsberg.

Oh! For cats sake—Fanny Quinlan.

What does that make me?—Arlene Hagberg.

Where to, next —Marie Volkl.

BRAINERD TRACK ATHLETES BEGIN WORKOUTS IN GREGORY PARK WED.

JOHN GABIOU ONLY LETTERMAN TO RETURN FOR SEASON

Prospective track men at B. H. S. got their first opportunity to go through their paces last week when the first practices were held in Gregory Park. Coach Kasch has been holding practices in conjunction with the spring football workouts in order to conserve time. With only one letterman, John Gabiou, back to carry on, the prospects are not very bright but perhaps new men can be found to take part in track events.

At the meeting held Thursday, twenty-five candidates reported with the possibility of several more turning out later. Coach Kasch stresses the fact that a track team must be well balanced in order to win a meet and only by constant practice can this be accomplished. Mr. Cobb spoke a few words to the boys stating that although Brainerd might not have a winning team this year, they should keep trying and with the new high school next year prospects should be better.

The district meet will be held at Little Falls, and this, together with the interclass meets and the death-race will provide plenty of exercise for the tracksters.

Brainerd Hi-Y Sends Sole Delegate to Willmar

Although the regular weekly meeting of the Senior Hi-Y club last Wednesday eve was attended by a slight catastrophe in the form of a miniature conflagration which was soon extinguished but which succeeded in smoking up the Y. M. C. A. parlors to such a degree that it was necessary to adjourn to the library to proceed with the banquet, the meeting was thoroughly enjoyable and a goodly amount of business was efficiently attended to.

The delicious coffee with which the club members were waiting to refresh themselves, was bubbling merrily upon the little (two burner) stove placed in the Y. for that purpose when the aforesaid warming apparatus was seized by a sudden inspiration and burst into flames, which all accounts for the adjournment to the lower halls.

Upon hearing of the Hi-Y convention to be held at Willmar, the local chapter duly appropriated money to send a delegate to bring back all the inspiration and ideas to be obtained. Dicky Ebert, who happened to be "fat delegate, arrived in Willmar to find himself the only out of town delegate. Dicky reports that he thoroughly enjoyed himself and he will all look forward with a great deal of pleasure to his account of his adventures as the guest of honor at the conference, which will be in our next issue.

New Biology Contracts Offered Sophomores

New Biology contracts have been assigned in Miss Laipple's classes. They differ from the old conventional form of contracts in that they are not compulsory. Any student may signify his intention to meet the necessary obligations or not, just as he chooses. This contract work will enable the student to obtain a better grade than otherwise might be received. An A student is expected to secure 25 points in addition to his regular work, while B, C and D students are required to obtain 15 and 10 points and outline daily lessons, respectively.

THE FACULTY

At the tender age of seven, Miss Mathis moved from Morgan, Minnesota, her birth place, to Marshall, where her preliminary schooling took place. It was at Marshall High where Miss Mathis decided to become an English teacher principally, she states, because she was particularly fond of the teacher. She does not describe this instructor but we assume that he must have been a very handsome young man.

Macalester College and the University of Minnesota were the schools chosen by the young lady for her later education.

At the present time Miss Mathis is aspiring to become a great author. She has become very successful in writing short stories in her spare time, many of which have been accepted and published by various magazines. We wish her luck in her writings and hope that she will be with us for many years to come.

MR. HOHMAN STATES COST OF OLD HIGH

"Five thousand two hundred dollars was paid for the present site of the Washington High School," stated Mr. Hohman, a present board member, when interviewed by a staff member. Mr. Hohman went on to say that twenty-two lots were bought for four thousand eight hundred dollars from Mrs. Schultz and that two lots were bought from Mr. Wood for four hundred dollars.

The building was accepted by the board Jan. 12, 1885, and the School Board held their first meeting in the new building Feb. 7, 1885. A Mr. Ellis of Marshalltown, Iowa, was architect of the new building and he estimated the cost to be twenty-seven thousand two hundred and seventy-seven dollars and seventeen cents.

The board members at this time were:

H. H. Hubbard.
J. C. Congdon.
R. H. Paine.
James Gardner.
W. W. Hartley.
P. M. Lagerquist.
R. A. Beard.
L. N. Cohen.

Much credit is due Mr. Hohman and members of the school board for the interest they have shown in the pupils of the Brainerd High School during all the years from 1885 to the present.

Normal Training Notes

O, you don't know how glad we were to get back after all that terrible vacation. Miss Reid was so very much taken up with her vacation that she called upon the weather man to aid her in lengthening it by one day.

This spring weather hasn't done one thing to our ambitions — only makes us wish we could do better work.

Maude Thompson brings her musical career to a close at the Garfield this week and Violet Hoston goes to succeed her.

We really wish you could see our primary classes. They are just the dearest little boys and girls.

Some of the people would be very much surprised if they knew the history or past this old county of ours has. Well, we have it quite well begun and we are doing all that we can to finish it. We have one attempt at Cass County by Madge Rardin.

We have been applying for our schools in the last few weeks; several of us have had a little definite encouragement.

Nellie Gillette has been on the sick list all last week. We surely missed her and we hope she gets back soon.

Margaret Schley and Evelyn Dechaine are doing some 8th grade work with Miss Barrett's pupils in Arithmetic.

The roomie was hammering a spike into the wall to hold up the likeness of his favorite femme. All of a sudden he let out a whoop and a yell. "Did you hit your thumb?" we asked him.

"Now, I hit the wrong nail," grumbled he.

It may take a few years yet to get the new athletic park in shape but when it is completed we will have a park that is far superior to the old one. There will be a baseball diamond, football grounds and track that will take care of all the outdoor sports most adequately.

And with the gym as planned for the new school, there will be no complaints against poor playing facilities. With the great progress made under the old, inadequate playing facilities imagine the achievements that ought to be obtained with all these new encouragements!

Edith: Is it true that Catherine has a secret sorrow?
Lois: Heavens, yes! Hasn't she told you about it yet?

Frosh: "Two."
Miss Schow: "What are they?"
Frosh: "Inside and outside."

Our prize nitwit is a frosh who wanted to know what kind of an instrument a rank was, because he read in a book that "Thomas Edison was an inventor of the first rank."

She was only a landscape gardener's daughter, but she knew how to park.

GAMES TO START ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON AFTER SCHOOL

Much excitement has swept the school as the time for the annual tennis tournament has again appeared. There are twenty-four contestants, and among them many very good players, therefore some exciting sets are being anticipated. The games will probably begin Thursday afternoon after school. One set elimination will be given to the boys and two out of three sets to the girls. Those taking part and their opponents for the first bout are:

1. Gaylord Kinney vs. George McCaffrey.
2. Ross Olmsted vs. Warren Golemboski.
3. Roger Kleven vs. Hugh McCaffrey.
4. David Weber vs. Ralph Anderson.
5. Monroe Kelly vs. Allan Johnson.
6. LeRoy Wyatt vs. Donald Geist.
7. Zane Smith vs. John Chadbourne.
8. Dick Ebert vs. Al Trommald.

1. Alice Nolan vs. Louise Clausen.
2. Katherine Sheets vs. Helen Bane.
3. Helen Sheets vs. Janet Kampmann.
4. Dorothy Kinney vs. Doris Geist.

JUNIORS TO SELL CANDY SENIOR DRESS UP DAY

Juniors will sell candy on one of the big days of the year which is Senior dress-up day. Booths will be found in both the city hall and the old courthouse so that lovers of good sweets can fulfill their desires easily. This important means of raising money was decided upon at the Junior meeting held last Thursday evening.

Plans for the Junior-Senior banquet were discussed. Preparations for this event must be begun immediately, said Mr. Johnson, one of the advisers, as he urged cooperation on the part of all Juniors.

Those who will be permitted to attend the banquet must have paid their dues for the entire year. Those who are designated Juniors this semester and who desire to attend the banquet should see Miss Tornstrom for confirmation of their status and then report to the Junior president, Ross Olmsted.

Aptitude Tests To Be Given to Seniors Wed.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, the College Aptitude Tests will be given in the assembly of the Old Court House. Any senior having any intentions, no matter how vague, of attending college next year is urged to take this test. Last year the greater per cent of the seniors took the test and Brainerd high was very proud of its claim to Donald McNamara who placed second in the state.

The purpose of these Aptitude tests given every year to prospective college attenders is to test the student in his chances for a successful college career. If a low grade is made, the student is discouraged rather than encouraged to attend college because his prospects would be limited in this line. A high grade, however, would assure the student of the advisability of going on to college.

The tests are given by the Association of Minnesota Colleges which is made up of all the leading state colleges such as the University, Carleton, Augsburg, Macalester, St. Olaf, St. Catherine's, etc. There are 95 towns in Minnesota giving the exams.

The only equipment necessary for taking the test is several sharpened pencils. No preparation is required.

DONALD McNAMARA REVIEWS H. S. DAYS

My memories of high school — imagine the thoughts that surge to the mind of one of the graduates of last year's unusual class when he is asked to tell about the things he sees in retrospect. Come to him again thoughts of the happy times he had; of the wonderful things he did. From this still near perspective his high school days seem to fall into two divisions: the somewhat over three and a half years he spent in that beloved and maligned old school that is now only a memory, and those last few months of school in hastily chosen quarters. He recalls, as any graduate may, his freshman thrills and sensations, his adjustments to the new surroundings, his first successes, and the mistakes which seem now not so momentous; and he tries to remember, without success, when the devotion for his alma mater first began to pervade his spirit. Freshman, Sophomore, Junior years passed by, each leaving its share of accomplishments behind. The glamorous Senior year came to bring a true enjoyment of the friendships made during the former years of comradeship, and a last attempt to do those things which perhaps should have been done before.

This Senior year it was that allows the graduate of '28 to think of his class as unusual. When he had but two months of his high school life left, the aged building which had sheltered him burned. The early spring morning when he stood to watch the old building make its exit after years of true service left one of the dearest memories he holds. Comrades drew closer during the following weeks. The unusual conditions drew the class closer together by trying it with unexpected problems. The days left with each graduate a sense of the worth of his fellows; they left him memories of final days which fitly climaxed a period of work and wonderful happiness.

ANTARCTICA IN THE OLD COURT HOUSE

As we open the door a cold damp draft rushes forth chilling us to the marrow of our bones and we are undecided as to whether or not we really want to explore the cavern, but at last we summon up some courage and turning our coat collars higher we plunge into the unexplored. A strange yellow light seems to come from the high vaulted ceiling, a sickly weird glow. As we step forward cautiously there is an icy tinkling. Thoughts of ice caverns and glaciers paralyze us; but only for a minute, for closer scrutiny reveals a heap of milk bottles, some empty, some full, some transparent, some not so transparent, some in one piece, some in more. With a sigh of relief we straddle them but our peace of mind is not for long. Our shoulder brushes against a shelf and we are submerged by an avalanche of Latin, French, and Algebra books. By the time we extricate ourselves, our eyes become used to the darkness and we are able to recognize familiar objects here and there. On our right are stacks of permanent records that Miss Tornstrom rescued from the fire; still on the right but a little farther into the labyrinth we notice a box of discarded scientific paraphernalia while directly above it rest two ice cream cans and two canvas bags.

Still farther in and still on the right we notice objects with which we are more familiar, a box of song books topped off by a stack of Modern and Ancient History books. On the left we see row on row of shelves. Those in the foreground groaning under the weight of uncalled-for fountain pens, pencils, pins and rubber bands and way down in the pile we spy two rusty corroded pennies. In the background we see books, little black leather bound ones, slightly larger cloth bound ones, monstrous legislative journals, red ones, blue ones, green ones and here and there an orange one. The back ground is formed by a solid wall of paper. By this time the magnitude of the scene has awed us, gazing we stand for some few minutes more and then half-frozen stagger through the door.

We emerge just in time to hear Miss Tornstrom's voice requesting someone to close that vault door because it cools off the whole building and the old court house isn't any too warm anyway.

Pause a moment and hearken unto us. Have you heard the latest popular songs? As the announcer says in introducing Amos and Andy, here they are:

The Waddle Song—"Waddle I do when you are far away?"

That Dirty Song—"Muddy Waters."

That Tamale Song—"Just Tamale and me and Baby makes three."

That Dago Song—"Dago wild simply Wild over me."

That Tango Song—"Tango rain no More."

That Lazy Man's Song—"Moon-beams, Kiss her for Me."

That Asthma Song—"Asthma Baby Now."

SHOPMEN ORGANIZE LOCAL BOOSTER CLUB

Resolution Adopted Asking for Support to Railways in Shipping

MILO ROSE, CHAIRMAN

Business and Professional People of Brainerd Asked to Patronize Railways

A permanent organization to be known as The Railway Booster club was effected at a meeting held in the assembly room at the shops on the evening of April 8 by members of the various departments, crafts and other organizations affiliated with the railways.

Milo Rose of the machinist's craft was elected chairman and Robert Anderson of the clerks union was elected secretary.

The main purpose of the organization is to take necessary steps to combat the loss of business to the railways and express companies on account of the shippers and travelers using other means of transportation than the railways.

A resolution adopted sets forth an appeal to the business and professional people of Brainerd to continue their patronage of the railway and express companies in the transportation of goods and in travel since the railways and express companies entering Brainerd furnish employment to over 1300 of its citizens, paying to them as wages an average of $170,000 a month or over two million dollars a year.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Chamber of Commerce, County Commissioners, City Council, Rotary and Lions clubs.

Definite plans for a future program will be adopted at a meeting to be held in the near future.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ACTIVITIES

A conference for the Camp Fire guardians from North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota will be held at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis on April 12, 13 and 14.

Miss Janet McKellar a member of the national staff will give a short talk on leadership. Friday, at the banquet to be held at 6:30 o'clock, Dr. L. C. Bugbee pastor of the Methodist Hennepin church will give the main address.

On Saturday there will be talks and demonstrations of interest to those interested in Camp Fire work. There will be craft displays and round table discussions. Saturday evening a Grand Council Fire will be given by the Camp Fire Girls of Minneapolis. Several of the Brainerd guardians expect to attend this conference.

The Netoppew Camp Fire held their regular meeting Monday after school at the Old Court House.

Miss Laipple gave a very interesting talk on birds and reported that these birds had been seen:

Robins, bluebirds, meadowlarks, red winged black birds, song sparrows, killdeer, chicken hawks, purple grackle kingfishers. The robin was seen March 17.

She also said that the English sparrow which everyone thinks of little value has been proved to be of a real help to farmers. A professor in one of the Iowa schools estimated that the tree sparrow alone ate 875 tons of weed seed in one year.

The black capped chickadee, it is estimated ate eight billion insects in one year.

The girls are planning to earn an honor by learning six different birds that are of service to man.

The Waditaka and Ohitaya Camp Fires greatly appreciate the help given them by the Lincoln Parent Teachers Association by allowing the two Camp Fire groups to furnish the lunch. Each group made $5.

The Old Fashioned Bouquet met Tuesday night at 7:30 at the home of Gertrude Erickson. Each brought a lunch. When it was time to eat each was blindfolded and then grabbed a lunch. One of the girls had her teeth in a very nice looking Weiner when she found it was rubber. One of the teachers made candy which we found to be made of flour, salt and colored pink.

This week the Blue Birds are going to learn to cook.

MAY REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Mrs. Winnifred Cronk Ziebell and Orchestra Play Several Numbers

The Garfield P. T. A. play "Always in Trouble" was given to a capacity house on Friday evening at the Garfield building in spite of the threatening weather. They feel they owe much of their success to the kind assistance of Mrs. Winnifred Cronk Ziebell and her orchestra which played several numbers in a very professional manner. The girls stood erect and took their different parts so well that they reflected much credit to their director.

All in the play interpreted their parts exceptionally well, and they are being urged to repeat the performance in a more spacious building.

Miss Mayme Britton and Mrs. Charles Miller deserve praise for the splendid manner in which they trained the cast. The posters, which were very unique, were made by Miss Lillian Britton and displayed the usual artistic talent possessed by her.

Hagin Tells How Money Secured From Sale of Poppies Benefits

So that the public may know where their money goes which is collected from the sale of Buddy Poppies, the following information is given by Jas. W. Hagin, commander of the Brainerd Post, 1647 V. F. W.: "The first cent from every poppy sold goes to the Veterans of Foreign War home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., for the benefit of children, and widows of deceased veterans. The public can rest assured that the money goes for the welfare of ex-service men. Also, they are making possible the maintenance of a home that gives the Veteran's homeless child an equal chance and opportunity with other children, a home where the child is under the personal interest of the child's own mother or the matrons.

"This home is one of the greatest undertakings of the Veterans of Foreign War. In this home the visitor will see children at play or at their studies the same as other children. They are not dressed in a drab, colorless uniform or moved about in drill formation. That in time develops a lock step. They enjoy the freedom which any other child enjoys. They also have the freedom of a 500 acre farm.

"It is the hope of the V. F. W. to build six new cottages at this home this year from the money derived from the sale of the Buddy Poppy. The remainder of the money goes for disabled men in hospitals who have no other means of getting a few dollars to spend.

"Remember the genuine Buddy Poppy is made in the hospital by disabled ex-service men. The name is copyrighted and owned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Every genuine Buddy Poppy has a small tag marked 'Buddy Poppy.'"

Should A Girl Confess Her Past?

Is a man's love for a woman always great enough to overlook her past, or is her safest course one of secrecy with the hope that the skeleton can be kept locked in the cupboard? TO CONDUCT HYGIENE CLASSES

Instruction in Hygiene of Maternity and Infancy to be Given

THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Classes to be Taught by Instructor From State Board of Health

The Division of Child Hygiene, State Board of Health, will conduct classes in Hygiene of Maternity and Infancy in various parts of Crow Wing county, and Brainerd has been chosen as one center.

These classes will be taught by an instructor sent by the Division of Child Hygiene. The death rate among infants is very high in Minnesota and comparatively little use of the knowledge already existing is being used to lower this death rate. For this reason the State Board of Health is sending out workers to teach those interested in caring for children in hopes that this death rate may be lowered. These classes are free and those completing the course satisfactorily will receive a certificate from the State Board of Health. They will meet once a week and will cover a period of about two months.

Those interested in taking the course please call the city and school nurse, Miss Eula F. Michael, between 8:15 and 9:30 A. M. at the city hall (telephone call 750.)

Field Mice

A good word might be said for field mice, usually set down categorically as "vermin," if the store of seeds recently taken from a mouse's nest in a ranch building in Yellowstone park can be taken as a fair sample. The cache of this tiny creature filled a five-pound lard pail. The seeds were all of the fawned, one of the worst plant pests in Montana.

Doings at Hall's Music House

We are daily receiving orders for Philco receiving sets as well as Graybars, Grebes and Crosleys. In fact, the demand for these sets is greater now than it has been for the last six months. This shows the great popularity and demand for standard makes which you will always find at music houses. People, it seems, are beginning to understand that it pays to buy anything musical at a music store. This, perhaps, is because we are more critical from a musical standpoint.

We are expecting an order of Model 311 Graybars to arrive tomorrow. This particular make has established itself with the music loving public as being one of the best sets today from a musical standpoint. We will have a sample set of this famous machine on our floor tomorrow, ready for inspection. We invite the public to come in and look it over.

DRIVE THIS CAR

Until you actually get behind the wheel and drive the 1929 Oldsmobile yourself, you cannot really know its versatility—its steadiness and stamina—its brilliant abilities in every phase of performance.

You'll have thrilling speed at your command, swift, sure acceleration and a tremendous power reserve.

Further, Oldsmobile is easy to drive. Quick-acting, positive, four-wheel brakes bring you to a smooth, safe stop. You can steer with your finger tips and park without effort, even in small spaces. The easy action of Oldsmobile's spring-cushioned clutch—the noiseless, effortless gear-shift—the comfortable driving position afforded by its new Fisher adjustable front seat and adjustable steering wheel—all add to driving enjoyment. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers and specially designed springs assure restful riding comfort, even on rough roads.

Oldsmobile's smooth, quiet, high-compression engine now develops 62 horsepower. All working parts are held within exacting limits of accuracy. Even the piston pins are pressure-lubricated—a feature heretofore characteristic of high-priced cars. And Oldsmobile's silenced chassis and silenced interior prevent noise and vibration.

The only true test of performance is personal experience. Take the wheel and make your own performance tests. Then you will know for yourself why owners everywhere praise Oldsmobile performance.

Names Will be Disclosed When Deputy Marshal Serves Papers

Two Brainerd places will come under the padlocking order of the U. S. Federal court at Duluth unless cause can be shown why the places should not be closed. Twenty-eight new cases were filed at Duluth yesterday.

The names of the defendants and establishments to be closed which are included in 28 new cases filed yesterday at Duluth cannot be made public until orders to show cause why the places should not be closed are served by a deputy marshal.

Locations of places which would be closed include: Duluth, 7; Gilbert, 3; Eveleth, 2; International Falls, 2; Little Falls, 2; Stevenson, 2; Hibbing, 2; town of Balkan, 2; Brainerd, 2; Bolus, Morrison county, 3; Perz, Morrison county, and Buckman, Morrison county, one each.

J. H. S. Gifford assistant United States district attorney, will have charge of prosecuting the abatement cases.

A Serious Thing, Love

Life is a love affair. . . . Young people in love are preparing to continue love affairs in the next generation. This love we laugh and weep about is the most serious thing in the world; we should give it all the intelligence we can command.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

That's What a Man Is

A man is some one who telephones from a drug store where a phonograph is playing on the candy counter and wonders why his wife laughs so freely when he says he is staying in to work.

Hurry

When we hurry we all too frequently hurry into mistakes. And we lose all the time we gained in explaining our mistakes.

TRAVEL by BUS

The motor bus route is the rural railroad. A large part of the rural population of Minnesota is within a mile or two miles of convenient motor bus service. Every farm house on a motor coach line is a bus station.

TO CONDUCT HYGIENE CLASSES

Instruction in Hygiene of Maternity and Infancy to be Given

THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Classes to be Taught by Instructor From State Board of Health

The Division of Child Hygiene, State Board of Health, will conduct classes in Hygiene of Maternity and Infancy in various parts of Crow Wing county, and Brainerd has been chosen as one center.

These classes will be taught by an instructor sent by the Division of Child Hygiene. The death rate among infants is very high in Minnesota and comparatively little use of the knowledge already existing is being used to lower this death rate. For this reason the State Board of Health is sending out workers to teach those interested in caring for children in hopes that this death rate may be lowered. These classes are free and those completing the course satisfactorily will receive a certificate from the State Board of Health. They will meet once a week and will cover a period of about two months.

Those interested in taking the course please call the city and school nurse, Miss Eula F. Michael, between 8:15 and 9:30 A. M. at the city hall (telephone call 750.)

Field Mice

A good word might be said for field mice, usually set down categorically as "vermin" if the store of seeds recently taken from a mouse's nest in a ranch building in Yellowstone park can be taken as a fair sample. The cache of this tiny creature filled a five-pound land mail. The seeds were all of the fanned, one of the worst plant pests in Montana.

NOTICE

To lot owners of Evergreen cemetery who look after the raking of their own lots, should see that the leaves are raked while the sexton is cleaning up the cemetery at this time. See the sexton also about care of your lots. Hours 7:30 a. m. to 8 o'clock p. m. or phone 985-J.

POLICE CHECK UP GARBAGE HAULERS

No Offensive Refuse Permitted to be Dumped Within City Limits, Law Demands

PROSECUTIONS THREATENED

Penalty in Case of Conviction $50 or 30 Days; Must Haul to Dumping Grounds

The police department is active in checking up of the dumping of rubbish on vacant lots within the city limits.

In the event of the failure to take rubbish that might become offensive to adjoining property owners, to the city dumping ground, persons hauling such rubbish are liable to prosecution.

Conviction in such cases provides for a penalty of as great as $50 fine or 30 days in jail.

Cooperation in the disposal of garbage, cans, etc., by hauling to the city dumping grounds is requested by the city health and police departments.

Doings at Hall's Music House

We are daily receiving orders for Philco receiving sets as well as Graybars, Grebes and Crosleys. In fact, the demand for these sets is greater now than it has been for the last six months. This shows the great popularity and demand for standard makes which you will always find at music houses. People, it seems, are beginning to understand that it pays to buy anything musical at a music store. This, perhaps, is because we are more critical from a musical standpoint.

We are expecting an order of Model 311 Graybars to arrive tomorrow. This particular make has established itself with the music loving public as being one of the best sets today from a musical standpoint. We will have a sample set of this famous machine on our floor tomorrow, ready for inspection. We invite the public to come in and look it over.

is Personal Experience . . . Come in today and -

DRIVE THIS CAR

Until you actually get behind the wheel and drive the 1929 Oldsmobile yourself, you cannot really know its versatility—its steadiness and stamina—its brilliant abilities in every phase of performance.

You'll have thrilling speed at your command, swift, sure acceleration and a tremendous power reserve.

Further, Oldsmobile is easy to drive. Quick-acting, positive, four-wheel brakes bring you to a smooth, safe stop. You can steer with your finger tips and park without effort, even in small spaces. The easy action of Oldsmobile's spring-cushioned clutch—the noiseless, effortless gear-shift—the comfortable driving position afforded by its new Fisher adjustable front seat and adjustable steering wheel—all add to driving enjoyment. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers and specially designed springs assure restful riding comfort, even on rough roads.

Oldsmobile's smooth, quiet, high-compression engine now develops 62 horsepower. All working parts are held within exacting limits of accuracy. Even the piston pins are pressure-lubricated—a feature heretofore characteristic of high-priced cars. And Oldsmobile's silenced chassis and silenced interior prevent noise and vibration.

The only true test of performance is personal experience.

Take the wheel and make your own performance tests. Then you will know for yourself why owners everywhere praise Oldsmobile performance.

CHAPTER LXXIV.

THROUGH the night silence she could hear the murmur of voices from the lawn swing. . . . Her stepmother would be turning her father against her. She dressed swiftly in a dark traveling suit and close-fitting hat. Then she turned out her light and waited in silence for a moment. She stole like a ghost down the back stairway with her heavy bags out through the side door that led to the garden and into the street. It would be a long walk, down the street that Dan must take on his way home. Dan would be starting soon—

There was a grinding screech of brakes suddenly applied. "Lilith!"

"Yes, Dan?"

"What in the world are you doing?"

"I'm running away."

He grasped her arm roughly. "Tell me what you mean. . . . Why?"

She lifted her head proudly in the moonlight and gazed into his eyes. "My stepmother! Last night because I went for a nice little ride with you. Again tonight. She's going to accuse me to you tomorrow. I couldn't bear it!"

"But you can't go like this, Lilith! Where—?"

"Anywhere!"

"But what does she say to you?"

His face was white.

"That you're in love with me—and I'm to blame. That Tina's unhappy—because you love me!"

He took a step forward and spoke in an agonized tone. "But Lilith, my dearest, what can you do?"

She looked like a wrath made of mist and flame as she faced him in the moonlight. "When you and Tina are on your honeymoon—in Paris—I'll be lying face down in the river."

"Oh, my God, no!" His body trembled.

"What else?" she asked with deadly calm.

His face was contorted with his struggle of indecision. Suddenly he burst out. "I'll take you back home tonight. Tomorrow I'll face them with the truth—tell them I love you. Tina will give me my freedom! And we can be married."

She gave a short, bitter laugh. "Girls don't free rich suitors lightly. She'll cling to you. No, I can't face any more of it."

"But—how could we do anything else? We couldn't just skulk away without a word. That would be cowardly."

She broke in eagerly, catching his arm. "It would be saving pain all the way round, Dan. How much easier for Tina to get a telegram saying we are married than to have to tell her face to face! A clean cut is more merciful than haggling."

"I can't see it that way," he muttered. "It's a rotten wrong I'll be doing her. I ought to be man enough to stand up to it—not a wimp."

"But, Dan, she'll never let you

"Oh, no, Father!" came the icy anguish of her tones. "Why should not Lilith take my sweetheart or my husband—if she cared to?"

eyes looking like those of a child just roused from sleep.

"Where's Lilith?" her father asked.

"Still asleep, I guess. I haven't seen her this morning." An uneasy shadow flickered over her face, and her father winced at seeing it.

"Sheba, go tell Miss Lilith to come down and have breakfast with the family. Last chance we'll have to be all together without the wedding company."

Sheba came back in short time. "Miss Lilith ain't in her room. Her room look like it been stirred with a stick. Half her clothes gone," stated Sheba, her eyes

Lost and Found

"S. A. G." means "St. Anthony Guide." St. Anthony is supposed to be the patron saint of persons seeking to recover lost articles. The appeal to him to guide letters and packages to their proper destinations by affixing the cryptic letters to envelope or package—usually under flap or stamp—is quite common.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and drugists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

Impatient Griselda

by Dorothy Scarborough

CHAPTER LXXIV.

THROUGH the night silence she could hear the murmur of voices from the lawn swing. . . . Her stepmother would be turning her father against her. She dressed swiftly in a dark traveling suit and close-fitting hat. Then she turned out her light and waited in silence for a moment. She stole like a ghost down the back stairway with her heavy bags out through the side door that led to the garden and into the street. It would be a long walk, down the street that Dan must take on his way home. Dan would be starting soon—

There was a grinding screech of brakes suddenly applied. "Lilith!"

"Yes, Dan?"

"What in the world are you doing?"

"I'm running away."

He grasped her arm roughly. "Tell me what you mean. . . . Why?"

She lifted her head proudly in the moonlight and gazed into his eyes. "My stepmother! Last night—because I went for a nice little ride with you. Again tonight. She's going to accuse me to you tomorrow. I couldn't bear it."

"But you can't go like this, Lilith! Where?"

"Anywhere!"

"But what does she say to you?"

His face was white.

"That you're in love with me—and I'm to blame. That Tina's unhappy—because you love me!"

He took a step forward and spoke in an agonized tone. "But Lilith, my dearest, what can you do?"

She looked like a wraith made of mist and flame as she faced him in the moonlight. "When you and Tina are on your honeymoon—in Paris—I'll be lying face down in the river."

"Oh, my God, no!" His body trembled.

"What else?" she asked with deadly calm.

His face was contorted with his struggle of indecision. Suddenly he burst out. "I'll take you back home tonight. Tomorrow I'll face them with the truth—tell them I love you. Tina will give me my freedom! And we can be married."

She gave a short, bitter laugh. "Girls don't free rich suitors lightly. She'll cling to you. No, I can't have any more of it."

"But—how could we do anything else? We couldn't just skulk away without a word. That would be cowardly."

She broke in eagerly, catching his arm. "It would be saving pain all the way round, Dan. How much easier for Tina to get a telegram saying we are married than to have to tell her face to face! A clean cut is more merciful than haggling."

"I can't see it that way," he muttered. "It's a rotten wrong. I'll be doing her. I ought to be man enough to stand up to it—not a wench."

"But, Dan, she'll never let you

"Oh, no Father!" came the icy anguish of her tones. "Why should not Lilith take my sweetheart or my husband—if she cared?"

eyes looking like those of a child just roused from sleep.

"Where's Lilith?" her father asked.

"Still asleep, I guess. I haven't seen her this morning." An uneasy shadow flickered over her face, and her father winced at seeing it.

"Sheba, go tell Miss Lilith to come down and have breakfast with the family. Last chance we'll have to be all together without the wedding company."

Sheba came back in short time. "Miss Lilith ain't in her room. Her room look like it been stirred with a stick. Half her clothes gone," stated Sheba, her eyes

Lost and Found
"S. A. G." means "St. Anthony Guide." St. Anthony is supposed to be the patron saint of persons seeking to recover lost articles. The appeal to him to guide letters and packages to their proper destinations by affixing the cryptic letters to envelope or package—usually under flap or stamp—is quite common.

No More Piles
Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. —adv.
